

Welcome to the September edition of All Saints. This is the 6th edition in our new format and we are beginning the process of evaluating how it has gone so far.

If you have any thoughts about what you like and don't like about the magazine please let us know and we will try to take this into account in our future planning. We know some of you find the print a bit small and we are considering enlarging it (this may of course mean we get less in!).

Please keep the articles and reports rolling in

Thank you to all our contributors and advertisers – there would not be a magazine without you. Please keep the articles and reports rolling in – we do our very best to squeeze in as much as possible. We have become aware that one or two emails have failed to arrive and disappeared into the ether. In future we will send a confirmation that an article has arrived. If you don't get confirmation please email us again.

A big thank you also to everyone who religiously delivers the magazine each month and of course thank you to all our readers as well!
