

We seem to have a very “green” issue this month with lots of articles about plants and animals. We continue to publish the articles you send in and that is the way it has worked out this time.

We have also started some of our “redesign” work and you will find a couple of things have moved - we hope the changes have some kind of logic. Everything is still listed in the contents panel on the right of this page.

Our advertising content has also increased in line with the extra articles and you can now advertise for a 4 month period rather than having to buy a complete year.

I know we promised to look at larger print but this has proved too big an alteration to manage this month. We do still intend to address this as soon as possible.

We would still welcome more village news items, unfortunately we cannot run to having reporters and rely on the information sent in.
